Hometown School Development Project of Mitsubishi Elevator (Thailand) Has Received Awards in the FAD Architecture Awards 2019

CSR-Hometown School Development Project in 2018, in collaboration with the Faculty of Architecture International Program, Chulalongkorn University in the education building design project at Bang Nong Saeng School, Ubon Ratchathani (MET staff who presented the project is Mr. Thawatchai Dok-In, Pinklao Service Center Technician) has received 2 awards in the FAD Architecture Awards for the year 2019 which are Jury mention International 2019 and Comment Award International 2019.

Design Build for the Community, the creativeness of Mitsubishi Elevator (Thailand), the instructors, students and the resilience of workers and villagers, led possible to develop the project from a 60 sqm space to a 300 sqm. This building not only proper education, but also quality spaces to meet, learn and plays was actively received.

Background: Mitsubishi Elevator (Thailand) Co., Ltd. has organized one project for our employees to participate in. We encouraged them to develop their hometown schools every year in order to build their awareness of social responsibility so employees can build unity there. We collaborated with International Program in Design and Architecture Chulalongkorn University (INDA) to design the concept for the school. The Hometown School Development project has been providing laughs and smiles to students who live in rural areas, such as the renovation of the football field, the renovation of the library and computer center and many others. The FAD awards were established in 1958 with the aim of promoting current state-of-the-art artwork and recognizing the quality of traditional languages in opening new paths.
